

Interactive comment on “IEOOS: the Spanish Institute of Oceanography Observing System” by E. Tel et al.

In my opinion the ms does not fit into the journal's scope. The text is poorly written, and not well presented, without any detail for instance on the strategy behind the structure of the observing system, on the data management and QC an QA issues, on calibration and instrumental details. No new scientific results are shown and most of the cited literature is "grey" literature (abstracts, spanish documents, theses). I think that such a description of a list of observing systems is better fitted for the insitutional webpage of the IEO, rather than for a scientific paper. Therefore I recommend that the ms is rejected in this form.
