Dear Stefano, Thank you for your comments, which we will certainly take into account for the revised version. The region was chosen because of previous studies we performed there and because of a new project dealing with the Corsican coastal region, for which we wanted to provide some larger scale informations. Some additional information will be added in the revised text.

The major point being the validation question, already raised by other reviewers, we will not repeat our answer in all details. Currently we are working on the validation with external data which we hopefully can include in the revised version.
