We apologize for the delay of our revised manuscript and thank the Referee for his comments on the original version.

Response to Referee 1.

Most figures have been improved to increase readability. All the typos identified by the Referee have been corrected.

In Fig. 7a/b, although not really apparent, the distinction between two groups actually occur below 100-200 m. Hence, we did not modify the text.

We have added a geographical reference in the text when explaining Fig. 12.
